

book review

title: Woman, you are called and anointed

author: Glenda Malmin

publisher: City Christian Publishing

ISBN-13: 978-1886849174

ISBN-10: 1-88684917X

reviewed by: Andrea Critchley

Glenda Malmin, Pastor's wife, Dean of Women at Portland Bible College, Portland OR, writes this book as an encouragement to pastor's wives, women in ministry and women who have wondered about the personal calling of God on their lives. Glenda engages the reader with personal illustrations of her life in ministry with WORD based principles of knowing God's will for your life, your call, your service, your relationships and your generation. This book tackles the difficult subjects that face women today and gives wisdom and gracious ways of addressing these concerns. Topics such as reaction to crisis, denial, isolation, challenges of leaders, comparison battles, marriage protection, submission, financial stresses and many more.

Through her life of ministry, Glenda shares of her wisdom and experiences and helps us to identify who we are in God and what He is asking of us. To know that you are called by God is one thing, but to know that He has anointed you for your calling and how to flow in that is important! This book is highly recommended for pastor's wives, women in ministry and those that are seeking God's call for their lives.

Andrea Critchley
Women2Women Director
PAOC BC/Yukon District